CHANGE CHAMPIONS ESG PROGRAM

23 August, 2025

Event Highlights

Last Saturday, we brought together an enthusiastic group of children for a fun and educational ESG program focused on sustainability and creativity. The theme of the day was giving used clothing a second life by transforming them into unique, crafty creations.

The children explored how everyday items can be repurposed into something beautiful and meaningful, learning that small actions can make a big impact on the planet.

Moments of Joy

Smiles, laughter, and creativity filled the room! From carefully crafted flower bouquets to colorful cards, each child took home a handmade piece as a reminder that sustainability can be fun.

A big thank you to the parents, volunteers, and facilitators who made this program a success. Your support is shaping the next generation to care for our environment. Stay tuned for our next ESG program — more exciting, green activities ahead!

Why It Matters

This program helped children:

- Understand the importance of recycling and waste reduction.
- Develop creativity and problem-solving skills.
- Recognize their role in building a sustainable future.

By reusing old clothing, we not only reduced textile waste but also instilled eco-conscious habits in our young participants.
